“The Faculty of Humanities is modern and well-equipped, the professors are inspiring and supportive. The groups are small thus allowing every student to fully express himself.”

Marko, Serbia

Mario, Germany

“I like my studies in Riga, because we study in small groups and are in close contact with the professors, which preserves a good environment for learning. And later in the day Riga offers many activities you can do besides studies, which is important as well.”

Afrein Nasir, India

“I am blessed to bag the opportunity for studying for a full academic year in the University of Latvia. It was all about competing with people from around the globe. The curriculum equips students with practical experience which, according to me, is quite important from the employment perspective. My home university's (Women's Christian College) affiliation to ERASMUS MUNDUS program has opened a world of avenues which I foresee. I got the opportunity to exchange my life.”
