

Faculty of Educational Sciences and Psychology at the University of Latvia
Tasks of the lead researcher (part-time)

1. Name of the scientific field or subfield corresponding to the academic position:
Psychology, general psychology
2. Research areas: Development, adaptation, standardization, and practical guidance of psychological assessment tools for cognitive and learning skills, development of interventions and experimental testing of children's mental development.
3. Scientific, pedagogical, and organizational work:

Job Responsibilities	Minimum requirements for compliance within 6 years
3.1. Scientific work
Tasks of scientific work. Carry out the scientific management of two subprojects (in the psychology section) of the project "Promote the social integration of people at risk of poverty or social exclusion, including the most deprived and children," measure 4.3.6.7 "Establishment of intersectoral cooperation and support systems for children's healthy development and successful self-realization" of the European Union Cohesion Policy Programme 2021–2027: 1) to continue the development of the BAASIK screening system (in the new RAVIS e-environment) as the author of BAASIK, 2) the development of new development-promoting interventions in the cognitive and learning skills area for children aged 1 to 6 years. 3) to establish 6 experimental experimental trials of intervention programs, manage data collection, process them, and make scientific conclusions about the effectiveness of intervention programs. 4) to participate in the preparation of the necessary project deliverables.	Work on BAASIK testing in the RAVIS environment has been completed, and version 2 of the BAASIK management manual has been updated based on pilot study results in the RAVIS environment, in cooperation with the State Chancellery (SAO) part of this project.
Other scientific work tasks, t.sk. ability to attract resources for project implementation. No resource mobilization is planned, as a financially substantial research project has already been secured, to be implemented by	Implementation of project results in practice in Latvia.

2029, thanks to previous research activities in the field of BAASIK creation.
3.2. Pedagogical work
Tasks of pedagogical work. Development and management of continuing education courses for psychologists, speech therapists, speech therapists, teachers, and doctors.	Course development Course Conduct
Other tasks of pedagogical work, t.sk. Planned work in bachelor's, master's, or doctoral study programs within a specific group of educational programs.	Not planned
3.3. Organizational work
Organizational work tasks. Work in the project team, planning the planned project activities, carrying out their implementation, and supporting the nationwide introduction of BAASIK in family doctor practices and preschool institutions.	BAASIK RAVIS prepared for implementation in the e- environment (in 2029)
Other organizational tasks, t.sk. cooperation with the public. Communication with the public about the BAASIK system and its results.	Participation in seminars and conferences in accordance with events organized by the State Audit Office

4. Language skills

State language skills	C1
In the other official languages of EU countries – English language Polish language	B2 Native language
Other languages	Will be considered an advantage

Dean of the Faculty of Education Sciences and Psychology Prof. Linda Daniela / _____ /

I have read and am informed about the evaluation of the execution of these tasks every other year during the review period

Date: _____ / _____ /