

UC San Diego's Division of Arts and Humanities, in collaboration with UC San Diego Extension International Programs, offers the International Academic Year Abroad Program. This program provides a nine-month study abroad opportunity for international students interested in exploring US History, Culture, and Thought. Gain access to resources from a world-renowned university, ranked #1 for six consecutive years by Washington Monthly for its contribution to the public good in three broad categories: Social Mobility, Research, and Civic Engagement. While enjoying the sunny Southern Californian climate and culture, learn from first-class professors in the fields of philosophy, history, music, theatre and dance, visual and performing arts, and literature.

Participation in the International Academic Year Program is administered through UC San Diego Extension's Concurrent Enrollment process. Students will receive an official Concurrent Enrollment transcript issued by UC San Diego Extension in late June/early July after completion of the program.

Program description:

- Study alongside American university students
- One academic year, Fall through Spring, of pre-selected courses from the Division of Arts and Humanities related to US history, culture, and thought.
- 12 credits (three 4-unit courses) per quarter to qualify for the F-1 student visa.
- Academic advising and student support, including study skills and writing skill development, and social opportunities.
- Universities in many countries count these credits towards their master's and bachelor's degree programs. Transferability is at the discretion of the home university and must be verified in advance by the student.
