

The European Day of Languages is celebrated on 26th September each year to encourage everybody to learn languages. In this small booklet you will find examples of the many languages spoken in Europe. By learning the language of another country one also gets to know better its culture and people; this may be of great advantage.

European Public Information Centre - Europe in your library!

The EPIC network of public libraries in the UK plays a crucial role in keeping people informed about Europe. Specially trained staff can help with enquiries, from European legislation and programmes, to details of European policies, to information on European grants and loans.

To find out where your nearest Europe Direct centre or EPIC is, log on to <http://www.europe.org.uk>.

Last but not least the European Commission has offices, called Representations, in all the Member States of the European Union. The UK Representation is in London; there are also Offices in Belfast, Cardiff and Edinburgh. To find out more log on to <http://ec.europa.eu/unitedkingdom>.

About the EU bookshop

<http://bookshop.europa.eu>

The EU Bookshop is an online service giving access to a wide range of EU publications. It enables users to search for publications, order them, and where possible, download copies.

In addition to the online bookshop, this service will offer an online catalogue of publications issued in the past three years. Earlier publications can be found in the archive.

If you need more than one paper copy of a free brochure, please contact your nearest Europe Direct Centre and ask them to order them for you.

Europe Direct – Europe on your doorstep!

Europe Direct is a network of drop-in information centres spread across the UK. From Plymouth to Preston, Cardiff to County Tyrone, you can access up-to-date information on the EU and feedback your comments directly to the European institutions.

Typically located in chambers of commerce, libraries or local authorities, the centres offer computers with access to the EU's Europa website, and TV screens showing the Europe by Satellite channel, enabling you to keep abreast of the latest EU news as it breaks.

- ✓ How can I go about studying or teaching in another Member State?
- ✓ Is there funding available to get work experience in another EU country?
- ✓ I want to do a GAP year on the continent – is there help on hand?
- ✓ What if I want to arrange an exchange with another European school?
- ✓ How can I organise a study visit to the European institutions?
- ✓ What teaching and learning material can I get about the EU for free?

You will be able to find answers to all these questions at your local centre, or by calling the freephone number 00 800 6 7 8 9 10 11.
